

Angela Moore has over 30 years of experience innovating how companies approach workplace health and safety screening. As a senior executive leader with National Medical Review, eScreen, Alere, Abbott, and in her current position as CEO of Cynergy Wellness Inc., she has played a key role in designing and implementing state of the art drug testing, occupational and employee health, wellness, and compliance programs for some of the largest retail, transportation, healthcare, and staffing programs across the United States and Canada. Recognizing the importance of health access and health equity, Moore works to connect employers, government agencies, healthcare organizations, and consumers with access to innovative, comprehensive, compliant programs that harmonize health, safety, and wellbeing.

Angela seeks re-election to the NDASA Board of Directors to continue her work in the areas of government advocacy on critically important policy matters, and to further community engagement initiatives including prevention and education strategies that help protect youth today from the substance use tragedy of tomorrow. Angela values the opportunity to represent the voices of NDASA membership, putting her years of experience toward initiatives that impact our families, our industry, and our country.
